THE COUNTY FAIR.

An Excellent Show of Horses and Cattle.

Other Departments Present Small but very Creditable Displays.

Preparing for the Great Harvest.

The threatening weather of the early morning deterred many from visiting the fair grounds with their exhibits, but later in the day, and as the time approached for closing the entry books, there was a general rush to obtain space and place articles on exhibition.

The G. A. R. dance in the new freight depot of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, will take place to-morrow evening. A limited number of tickets will be sold to the public at fifty cents each.

Remember the dance at the Guards' armory this evening under the auspices of the St. Patrick's T. A. & B. society. Anderson's band will furnish the music, and Parker & Eastman have prepared an elegant supper.

Readers of this paper will please bear in mind that they can find all the latest assortment and best selected stock of diamonds, jewelry, gold and silver watches, solid silver ware, etc., at the popular jewelry house of F. O. Cook & Co.

Madama Stanley's Mastodon appeared at the opera house last evening in an engagement of three nights. The entertainment is of the variety order, and is said by those who attended, to be first class in every respect. They will be greeted with a full house this evening.

Mr. Robert Barlow and his sister, Miss Kittie, of Johnston, entertained about forty of their young friends on Thursday evening last, and it is needless to say that a jolly good time was the result. After a bountiful and delicious supper had been served, games were indulged in to some extent, and it was an event long to be remembered.

Messrs. Webb & Hall have received a large assortment of G. A. R. badges, which are the most attractive badges that have ever been brought to this market. They have several varieties—solid gold, gold-plated, and silver, besides G. A. R. lockets and sleeve buttons. Every member of the G. A. R. should secure one of these badges. They are very beautiful, not too large—but just large enough—and in beauty of design and artistic finish, they are unsurpassed. Messrs. Webb & Hall have done the G. A. R. a kind service by putting these badges on sale at a price that will be within the reach of all members of the order.

Mr. John Allen left at the Gazette office this morning, a very handsome bouquet. Mr. Allen prides himself on being an Irish republican, American born. He is an enthusiastic Blaine man, and is as confident of his election, as any other loyal member of the party. He has experimented as a florist, through all the administrations of the past fifty years, and is thoroughly satisfied that the sun shines brighter, and produces more satisfactory results, when aided by protective tariff, than it does when floating around loose, with a free trade accompaniment. Sun flowers and American industries both need protection.

Messrs. N. W. Ayer & Son, of Philadelphia, the popular advertising agents, are just out with their newspaper annual. The work is a neatly bound book of one thousand pages. It contains a carefully prepared list of all the papers and periodicals published in the United States and Canada, giving their circulation, advertising rates and many other features of interest to all manufacturers, and liberal advertisers. The book is complete in all particulars and should be found on the table of every newspaper office in the country, as well as the office of every advertiser. The subscription price of the work is placed at the modest price of $3.00. Carriage paid.

The Springfield (Ohio) Globe: "The play of 'Karl,' by Charles A. Gardner and company, at the Grand Opera House last night was greeted by a good house. The piece itself, while laying no claims to intricacy of plot or brilliancy of dialogue is a simple, pretty little tale, charmingly and interestingly told. Gardner is an excellent Dutch comedian, not overdoing his imitations, or presuming upon the intelligence of the audience to understand provincialism. His style is largely the same as Joe Emmett's, while it is in no sense an imitation. Gardner's specialties added materially to the effect of what was pronounced by common consent an exceptionally excellent entertainment." At Myers' Opera House on Friday evening, October 3d.

Milton Nobles and his excellent company appeared in Lappins music hall last evening before a full house, and to say that all were well pleased and delighted, is but faintly expressing the sentiment of those who were fortunate enough to witness the play of "Love and Law" on this occasion. From first to last the feeling and temperament of the audience were kept wrought up in harmony with the play and its progress, and never have we seen a Janesville audience so well satisfied as on this appearance of Milton Nobles. It is unnecessary for us to give a synopsis of the play, as all our readers who have read the advertisements announcing the coming of Mr. Nobles and his company are familiar. The central figure in the play is Felix O'Neil, assumed by Milton Nobles, who was supported by one of the best stock companies visiting this city in a long time. We hope Mr. Nobles will visit our city often in the future, as he has won the confidence and respect of our theatre goers.

The weather. At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 50 degrees above zero. Cloudy with southeast wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 65 degrees above zero. Cloudy, with southeast wind. For the corresponding hours last year the register was 29 and 59 degrees above zero.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Charles Slightfoot, of Madison, is in the city, visiting his brother, Mr. John Slightfoot, and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram Phelps, started for Ohio this morning, for a two months visit at their old home.

Mrs. Mel. Hughes, of New Mexico is in the city visiting relatives and friends. Mr. Hughes is now running a train on the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, and will visit his friends in Janesville this fall.

Mrs. Dr. Campbell, nee Miss Kittie Williams, of Watertown, Dakota, is in the city, the guest of Miss May Patterson, Milton avenue. Mrs. Campbell is cordially greeted by her hosts of friends here in her old home.

Mr. C. O. Kaelor, of Beloit, was in the city a short time yesterday, and made a welcome call at the Gazette office. Mr. Kaelor reports the republicans of the Line City as very anxious to come to Janesville, and contribute their full quota in swelling the torch light procession on the 16th inst. to five thousand and over. The ball is rolling.

We notice by a dispatch to the Chicago Times, of yesterday, from Benton Harbor, Michigan, that B. P. Pixley, of St. Joseph, received the democratic nomination for representative in the state legislature. Mr. Pixley resided in this city for many years, conducting an extensive hardware business on Main street, under the firm name of Pixley and Kimball. Baring his politics, many Janesville people will wish him success.

DOUBLE WEDDING. CLOVES-PUTNAM. The residence of Mr. G. W. Putnam, of the town of Darion, was the scene of a double wedding on Tuesday evening, September 29th. The contracting parties were Mr. Arthur Cloves and Miss Nettie Putnam, and Mr. James Cloves and Mrs. Laura Putnam, all of the town of Bradford. The Rev. T. S. Odoms, of Emerald Grove, performed the ceremony. The two brides who are nieces of Mr. G. W. Putnam, are held in high esteem by all who know them; are talented, have taught school in the surrounding districts, being eminently successful in this occupation. For husbands they have two of Bradford's worthy sons, respected for their integrity, industry and perseverance. A large number of guests partook of the sumptuous repast provided, and shared in the festivities of the evening. The presents were numerous and costly, and the happy couples start life with the good wishes of a host of friends. They will each make their future home in Bradford where, as farmers, the bridegrooms have hitherto resided.

JUVENILE POLITICS. Political enthusiasm in the first ward is not confined to the sturdy voters, but runs through the families and only stops at the baby, who is content to make the night musical without any well defined political creed.

"Papa, are you a Blaine?" said a little girl at the dinner table yesterday. "Yes, dear, why?" was answered. "Well, so you and I think it mean that John can't join our club."

"Oh, because his mama is a Cleveland, and I think it's real mean. She says he can wear a Cleveland badge and march with the Cleveland club, and he wants to be in our club."

"Well, my child, let Johnnie march with the Cleveland club and have a good time while he can, there won't be any Cleveland clubs after the 5th of November, and then maybe Johnnie's mother will let him join your club."

"Why, papa, is Mr. Cleveland going away to November?"

"Yes, my dear, he is going up Salt river on a raft."

"Is he going alone, papa?"

"No, the great and good Mr. St. John and Mr. Butler have offered to go along, and Belvia Lockwood and Johnnie's mother will be invited to join the party, if Johnnie is a good boy may be they will take him along to carry a torch."

"Is Salt river very far, papa?"

"Yes, dear, it's a long trip, and you'd better let Johnnie take to along all of his clothes and playthings, for he may not come back in four years."

The little girl went out to interview Johnnie on the Salt river trip, and the last seen of his mother she was saying Johnny a nobby winter suit at the popular clothing establishment of Pritchard & Ziegler in Smith's block.

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS. The People had the Republican Gospel Preached Into Them. Last night the republicans of Milton Junction held a large meeting which was addressed by Major Rockwood, of the Recorder, who, for an hour and a half, held the attention of his audience while he gave them solid reasons why the republicans should win in the campaign.

J. M. Whitehead, Esq., and Mr. Smith, of the Gazette, met a few of the enemy and a good many of the friends, at Milton Junction, and expounded upon them the doctrines of the republican party. Mr. Whitehead made an effective comparison of the two platforms, and also presented a splendid answer to the charges of Colonel Viles that the republican party and the republican candidates were glided democracy. Mr. Whitehead is a strong campaign speaker and will do good service for the republicans of Rock county.

MORE STRAWS. The democratic party have been taking themselves that a liberal percentage of the South vote of Rock county could be relied upon for Cleveland. The Gazette is pleased to state for the information of the over confident party that when they count on any material aid from the sources named they are figuring without their host. At a party in the town of Harmony one night last week a vote was taken among the young men who will cast their first ballot for President in the November election. The result was Blaine 27, Cleveland 7.

A Good Day's Work. The season for telling big stories about threshing and husking corn has arrived and we have one which we print simply what the people down here in Rock county do. We print the report as received:

"On the farm of George Skinner, in the town of Le Prairie, Honey Fellows, with R. T. Pender's machine, threshed two thousand one hundred and fifty (2150) bushels of barley in one day, commencing in the morning at half past six o'clock, and stopping at half past six in the evening, setting the machine four times. Who can beat it?"

Over two hundred bushels an hour for two consecutive hours, is good work, and we should like to hear from some one "who can beat it."

CHURCH MATTERS. The following is a list of the interments in Oak Hill cemetery during the month of September:

Sept. 3—John A. Hastings, Janesville, aged 75 years.
Sept. 4—John B. Carlo, Janesville, aged 75 years.
Sept. 8—Wm. H. Barker, town of Janesville, aged 77 years.
Sept. 12—Walter H. Phelps, Janesville, aged 1 year.
Sept. 12—Sada M. Adey, Janesville, aged 1 year.
Sept. 12—Anna C. Merrill, Janesville, aged 2 years.
Sept. 12—John Keger, Janesville, aged 5 months.
Sept. 21—Ole Evenson, Janesville, aged 57 years.
Sept. 21—Della J. Hathorn, Janesville, aged 21 years.
Sept. 22—Henry S. Day, Janesville, aged 23 years.
Sept. 22—Margaret J. LaSalle, Janesville, aged 41 years.
Sept. 22—Henry W. Adcroft, Webster City, Iowa, aged 20 years.
Sept. 22—Albert Lindholm, Janesville, aged 4 years.
Sept. 22—Charlotte Sommerfeld, Janesville, aged 41 years.

Don't Forget Oct. 15th. The good people of Janesville and Rock county have certainly not been favored very much by out-door amusements this season. Appreciating this fact the management of The Barr Robbins Consolidated Railroad Shows have decided to close the season with an afternoon and evening entertainment in this city, October 15th. The opening performance given by this popular aggregation the first of May, was anything but satisfactory to the management, as everything was now and the weather very unfavorable.

Now the company is in the best of working trim and their performances throughout the entire season have called out well merited applause, and the show has long since won a reputation of being first class in every respect. Add to this the fact of Colonel Barr Robbins' popularity at home and the Gazette predicts for the closing entertainment both afternoon and evening crowded houses. Don't forget the date, Oct. 15th.

Charity Commenced at Home. At the last moment, ten o'clock A. M., August 12th, Eugene Gaudin, a varnisher for Messrs. B. Onorato & Co., bought one-fifth of the coveted ticket. The revolutions of the wheel brought out No. 15,355 as drawing the capital prize. The fact was published and came to the ears of Gaudin, who yesterday was poor, but to-day, by the investment of a dollar, ranks among the "bondholders." He called at the office of The Louisiana State Lottery with Mr. Onorato and was promptly paid in full—New Orleans Telegram, Aug. 15th, 1884.

DAKOTA.

A week spent in Southern Dakota would convince the most incredulous that the past two years have witnessed rapid strides in the way of permanent improvements, and the vast prairies are fast yielding to the steady march of civilization and intelligent cultivation.

From Tracy, Minnesota, near the eastern border of the broad territory, the Chicago & Northwestern railway stretches out its lines to the Missouri river, two hundred and fifty miles west, and its elegant trains of passenger, and Pullman cars, have done much towards transforming the wilderness into a thriving agricultural district. For miles, on either side of the track, is noticed the modest homes of the early settlers, and the numerous stacks of grain, that dot the prairie in all directions, are evidence to the fact that the soil responds liberally to every touch. Many of the Dakota farmers are poor, and because of this fact some people suppose that the territory has been grossly overestimated. If this class of people will stop to consider, that a large percentage of the first settlers of any new country, start out poor, and many of them impractical and so visionary that they honestly believe that a life of luxury can be enjoyed on a quarter section of government domain, in a claim shanty, eight by ten, they will be less surprised that so few of them comparatively come to the surface as successful farmers, at the expiration of the first few years. Two things are necessary to success in pioneer farming: The first, and most important, is a practical knowledge of the work in hand, and the second is money enough to put this knowledge into active operation.

The crops of Dakota this year indicate that agricultural knowledge is not lacking, and while many a farmer in the newly developed country finds himself short of ready money, because of the low price of his products, yet a large percentage of them are in better circumstances than they could have been with the same amount of capital invested in an older country. The counties of Beadle, Spink, Clark, Codington and Kingsbury, located in what is known as the "Jim river valley," produced in the year 1880, 100,000 bushels of wheat; the same counties produced this year 3,000,000
